

SEXUAL BILL OF RIGHTS

Every human being has the right to enjoy their sexuality.

Every human being has the right to have safety and privacy in their genitals.

Every human being has the right to a free considerate, reciprocal sexual engagement with a voluntary partner.

Every human being has the right to be born and raised without any tampering or mutilation to their sexual genitalia until they reach the age of consent and choose for themselves if they want their genitals interfaced with.

Every human being has the right to choose whether or not to share their sexuality with the public.

Every human being has the right to have their desires fulfilled during the entire course of a sexual engagement, and their body sovereignty (choice of yes or no) respected.

Every human being has the right to have sex abuse prosecuted in the court of law without being blamed, shamed, or experiencing harassment.

Every human being has the right to sex education which instructs them on how to bring sexual pleasure to their partner.