

September 2, 2018

DOMESTIC TERRORISM OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING
AT THE MARRIOT HOTEL IN NORTHWEST PORTLAND

An employee of the Oregonian newspaper has been participating as a customer of human trafficking at work and at hotels. I have nicknamed him, "Chip." He was born on October 9, 1967. He has brown-red hair (dyed), brown eyes, weight about 180 pounds, and height about 5'11. He has a scar on the front inside of his right knee.

On October 15, 2016 "Chip" committed felony child sex abuse when he watched a child survive sexual violence on video at his desk computer in his office at work. The man I nicknamed "Mr. Glum" was the perpetrator of child molestation in the video that "Chip" watched live through an application similar to Skype. Among the people watching this child be tortured for their sexual gratification from their office at work were Curly Bonds, the Chief Deputy Directors of Clinical Operations for the Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health.

On September 1, 2018 "Chip" committed assault and battery, and rape, upon a victim of human trafficking at the Marriot Hotel in Northwest Portland. The victim of human trafficking is an adult woman who is a citizen of Nigeria that was smuggled into the country in 2015; she has been held captive in Portland at the private residence of a human trafficker since she was brought into the country. "Chip" committed assault and battery upon her with a weapon; the exact weapon is unknown to me, but it is something that can be purchased at a hardware store and is used for putting holes in walls for installation.

More than 72% of the employees of the Marriot Hotel in Northwest Portland have been participating in human trafficking as customers, traders, or traffickers in 2018.