These dates are ideal for muscle-testing with less interference, as the focus of the terrorists will be elsewhere. In the battle of good versus evil, these dates represent a window of opportunity to use muscle-testing to identify people who do not currently (in this lifetime) have any mental disorders to add to your buddy system. These dates of international terrorism will not be re-scheduled regardless of being published, as they were planned according to astrology to create the most trauma possible, based on the orbit of the planet Mars, which represents the will in the human psyche.
